D. E. O'KEEFE.....EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

OXNARD FOR SENATOR.

Henry T. Oxnard has recently announced himself as a candidate for the Senatorship from California to succeed Thomas R. Bard, junior Senator from this State. It has been known for many months that Mr. Oxnard would come out for the place but he refrained from making the announcement until Senator Bard, who is from the same county, should return to California.

Mr. Oxnard's ambition to become a Senator from this State dates back several years to interviews which he had with Senator Bard at Washington when the latter said that he would accept re-election if it were offered him. Mr. Oxnard at that time plainly stated his desire to become a Senator.

One of the essential points which Mr. Oxnard's supporters argue in his favor is that he is a resident of Southern California. It is now generally conceded, and rarely disputed, that the southern section of the State is entitled to one of the United States Senators. This concession came from the north when the late Stephen M. White was elected, and again when Senator Bard was elected.

The south has vast and, to a degree, peculiar interests to be represented in the Senate. These interests have multiplied and expanded within recent years; and those who favor the candidacy of Mr. Oxnard insist that no man, more than he, has been responsible for the rapid upbuilding of these interests and the resultant prosperity which now abounds south of Tehachapi.

Mr. Oxnard though he has only been a resident of this State since 1889 has the interests of California thoroughly at heart. He controls over 30,000 acres of land in Southern California and the Oxnard sugar plant represents a capital of $3,000,000 and last year alone he distributed $1,500,000 to farmers for beets. Such a man as Henry T. Oxnard should be the logical candidate. He is a broad, far-seeing man, and would co-operate with Senator Perkins for any California reforms.

Coupled with all of the reasons which are above stated is another which must bear much weight, that is, the friendship between President Roosevelt and Oxnard. When the President made his trip to the Coast his only deviation from the program laid out for him was an unannounced visit to the Oxnard home in Ventura county.

California would be well represented by Senator Henry T. Oxnard.

WHY SO MANY YOUNG GIRLS DISAPPEAR.

"The disappearance of young girls is becoming altogether too common in this city," say a San Francisco exchange. Quite true, and most lamentable; but if parents would take more pains to acquaint themselves with the movements and associations of their girls there would be fewer disappearances to record. When young girls are permitted to go about the streets at night unattended and often with mere chance acquaintances, it is not singular that mischief often results. The wonder is that it does not result oftener. When immature girls are allowed to attend the theater and mixed dances with no other escort than some young chap not too well known to the family an invitation is extended to the devil to walk in and make himself at home. Such unconventional outing leads to beer drinking at late hours in the private boxes of all-night restaurants. From that it is only one more step to the red light. What is a familiar sight to the man about town is undreamed of by the good people sleeping soundly in their beds, thinking no evil will come to their boys and girls walking abroad and braving the pitfalls of the dark. If parents would keep themselves better informed as to where their daughters go and with whom they associate, they would have to seek the police for information of their missing daughters with less frequency than they do now. More than half the time the disappearance is the culmination of downfall. The mischief has been already done, and this is its logical sequence if not its necessary consequence.—Oakland Tribune.

Bulletin Contracts for World Comic.

The San Francisco Bulletin, which never ceases to improve, has added to its Sunday edition the New York World's comic section, which contains probably the best comic pictures published in this country. The Bulletin is also issuing with its Sunday edition a series of art pictures of better quality than were ever before given away with a daily paper. These pictures are imported from Europe and are obtainable on the Pacific Coast only through the Bulletin. In the East the same pictures command a dollar each in all the art stores.

In addition to these very recent improvements The Bulletin maintains its numerous other points of excellence. The woman's page always contains interesting matter and the editorial page is distinguished among editorial pages by the fact that people read it. Lowell Otus Reese, the poet and humorist, is a daily contributor, and Grant Wallace of The Bulletin staff writes the very best letters that come to any paper from the seat of war in the Orient. The society column is a remarkable for its exclusive news. It is evident that Mme. La Bavarde belongs to the inner circle of fashionable society. The news in The Bulletin, both local and telegraphic, is always accurate and well enited.

Willing to Be Honest.

Phil May, the great English artist earned his first fame in Australia. One day a broken down minister applied to him for charity, and May engaged him as a model. As a joke he also demanded that his eighty-year-old pensioner agree to leave him his skeleton when he died. When May left Australia he called his model in. "You've played me a dirty trick," said May, "by swindling me out of that skeleton. I could have bought one in sound order and condition for half the money you've cost me." The old fellow, conscious of his base ingratitude to his best and most patient friend, answered: "Don't be angry with me, Mr. May. It's not my fault. I meant to keep my word. Stay in Sydney a few months longer and give me another chance to show you that I am a man of honor."

The Celtic Affirmative.

In the speech of so highly developed a people as the Celts there is no equivalent to "yes." Thus it happens that you shall never hear an Irish waiter pronounce the shibboleth "yessir" of his English confrere, for he invariably expresses an affirmative by some such phrase as "I shall, sir," "It is, sir."—

NATION'S DEAD REMEMBERED

Decoration Day Exercises Held Last Monday.

Decoration Day was observed here last Monday in the usual manner. The schools were closed in commemoration of the nation's dead and all over town the stars and stripes were hanging from the poles at half-mast. At an early hour all who had dear ones in Union cemetery were at that sacred place adorning the narrow mounds with the choicest of flowers.

The services in the Alhambra in the afternoon were well attended, the house being crowded to the doors.

Post Commander J. H. Mansfield had charge of the meeting and twenty-seven veterans who had worn the blue from '62 to '65 rose and uncovered at his command. The musical program was exceptionally good, the pieces selected being appropriate for the occasion. The address of the day, delivered by the Rev. Harry E. Milnes of Palo Alto, was one of the best ever given here. The speaker dwelt with pride upon the deeds done during the Rebellion. His remarks concerning the man whom God raised up to lead us through those terrible days, Abraham Lincoln, were extremely well chosen and caused every loyal heart to tingle with pride that our country could produce such a man as Lincoln. The speaker said among other things, "I thank God that I was permitted to stand on the streets of San Francisco last year and see those battle scarred veterans marching by, some with their empty sleeves and other badges of the battles they had fought!"

The closing remarks dealt with those who were present at the meeting and examples were pointed out which portrayed the greatest deeds of heroism.

The audience then sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and the march to the cemetery was taken up. The school children, numbering nearly 300, were in attendance, carrying flowers to adorn the graves. At the cemetery Rev. C. C. Kirtland delivered the prayer and address to the unknown dead. The graves were then literallycovered with blossoms.

Following the old flag the veterans were the only ones to march home, and as they lovingly put away their "banner of the free" they knew not which of them, before the next 30th of May, would be mustered into the silent ranks with their old comrades prepared to answer when the roll is called up yonder.

George Greeley has gone to the city to undergo medical treatment. George has symptons of appendicitis and has gone where he will get the best medical attention.

BELMONT.

BELMONT, June 3—Mr. W. W. Hawkins, the genial groceryman who has been working for W. A. Emmett at Belmont, has signified his intention of leaving this place and casting his lot elsewhere. A party of three young men, of whom Mr. Hawkins will be one, will leave here next week. They intend to go through the Yosemite valley, cross the Sierra Nevada mountains through one of the numerous passes and intend to make Tonopah, Nev., their final destination. There they will look over the field and if chances are favorable they will go into the general merchandise business. The country about Tonopah is just now booming and in the height of prosperity. Mr. Chas. M. Schwab of Steel Trust fame has lately built a railroad from Rhodes, on the Carson and Colorado, to Tonopah, thus doing away with the expensive staging into the mining town and making direct rail connection to all points in the United States. W. C. Crawford, who has lately come here from Oklahoma and will be one of the party, is an experienced man at the general merchandise business and with the well-known energy of Mr. Hawkins ought to make a huge success in the new mining town. The friends of Mr. Hawkins, backed by the members of the Silver Star social club, of which organization Mr. Hawkins is vice-president, will give him a farewell testimonial at the Belmont school hall Saturday evening, to which all his friends are invited to bid him God speed.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

Eleven Graduates of Sequoia High School Receive Diplomas.

Parents and Friends of Pupils Are Interested Spectators at Closing Ceremonies.

The graduation exercises at Assembly hall Wednesday evening went off in the usually well planned manner. The best seats, reserved for the friends of the graduates, were all filled, as were the benches in the rear, and standing room was also at a premium.

Rev. C. C. Kirtland opened the exercises with a prayer, which was followed by a Glee Club selection and the salutatory in Spanish by Miss Belle Vallejo. Miss Lillie Kertell of San Mateo told of "Our National Songs"; Richard Hellman, accompanied by Mrs. Hellman, rendered a violin solo; "We Are The Heirs of the Ages" was the subject of Miss Pauline Beeger's oration and Miss Gertrude Beeger sang "The Angel's Serenade. "By Right of Might" and "Mary, Mother of Washington," were the respective titles of Miss Harriet Pugh's and Miss Leonora Lane's orations. Mr. F. F. Jeffers sang "My Own United States," and was followed by James Neuman with the oration "A Young Man's Chances Then and Now." The "Class Prophesy" was told by Gerald Halsey. Edward Genochio followed with an oration entitled "Nothing is Lost," and Miss Lucile Otto sang a song.

The oration, with valedictory, was made by Miss Edna Hanson, who presented the heliogabulus to the class of '05. On behalf of the class of '05, Miss Ruth Robertson accepted the heliogabulus and promised to watch over and care for it. "The Voyagers" was then sung by the Glee Club. Rev. W. A. Brewer made the graduation address. Mr. Brewer impressed it upon the young gentlemen that they should be manly men and upon the young ladies that that they should be womanly women. His remarks were very forcible and made quite an impression on the audience. Joseph Hellman played a claronet solo. Mr. Geo. C. Ross then presented the diplomas. Before giving out the much prized documents, Mr. Ross made some very commendatory remarks of the classes which had gone before.

During the evening Miss Harriet Pugh, on behalf of the graduating class, presented the high school a fine set of "Famous Men." The announcement was made also at that time that Mr. Miles would not return next year, and a very handsome silver loving cup bearing the following inscription, was presented to him: "To Mr. G. W. Miles from the class of '05."

In concluding the program Mr. Roseter, principal of the school, announced the pleasing news of the accrediting of Sequoia in all departments at both Stanford University and the University of California, as well as the normal schools.

Following are the names of the graduates: Edna Hanson of San Mateo; James Neuman and Gerald Halsey, Woodside; Lillie Kertell, San Mateo; Belle Vallejo, Halfmoon Bay, and Pauline Beeger, Harriet Pugh, Eva Gilbert, Leonora Lane, Arthur Dodge and Ed. Genochio, Redwood City.

The following is the valedictory, by Miss Edna Hanson of San Mateo:

OVER THE ALPS LIES ITALY.

Standing here at the dawn of the twentieth century we can look far back over the past events as a traveler who, having reached the summit of a lofty mountain, stops for awhile and gazes in awe and wonder at the dazzling splendors of the panorama about him. The great deeds and heroes of the past stand out prominently like the mighty mountains, while like the peaceful valleys far below, the minor incidents and thronging millions of quieter lives sink into dim obscurity.

Napoleon is one of those lofty images who once arose so suddenly on the horizon and like a thunder storm flashed the lightnings of victory in the dazzled eyes of the nations. Never has history recorded a more wonderful career. From a poor, obscure lieutenant he worked himself up to the highest place among men, till Europe shuddered at his name and trembled at the tread of his grand army. But his success came with struggles. Recall his famous march over the Alps, when he forced his way over the icy mountain barriers and then rushed like an avalanche down upon the peaceful plains of Marengo.

Great men die, but their deeds and sayings live after them. Napoleon is no more, but "Over the Alps Lies Italy" still remains. It is symbolic of his courage, grit, determination, hard-earned, well-deserved success. Few and simple as the words may seem, great and grand are the possibilities behind them. They represent the slow, hard struggle for success in life. They represent the bright and glorious future, the "Italy" even better than Napoleon's awaiting every young man and woman who is ready to take up life's battles and fight and win.

Great men have succeeded, not by accident, by fate, or by genius alone, but by work. Take for example the lives of some of the noted generals. Alexander the Great, Cæsar, Charlemagne, Cromwell, William of Orange, Von Moltke, and many other heroes of the battle field, are examples of men who worked and worked continuously.

Von Moltke's energy, planning and forethought seemed perpetual. Long before the the Prussian War broke out, he realized a clash was coming and prepared for it. Late one night he was awakened with the news that war had commenced. "Second pigeon-hole to the right," was his laconic answer, and he again went to sleep. But in the 'second pigeon-hole to the right," were minute plans for campaigns, and before morning the entire Prussian army was on the march.

No better example of success after many failures, of a fair Italy after a perilous passage over the Alps, can be given than that of the lives of great statesmen.

Disraeli became prime minister, the most powerful man in all England. Yet when he first attempted to speak in Parliament he was hooted at and forced to sit down. Daniel Webster, after his famous reply to Hayne, said of his career, "Work has made me what I am." What finer example can we take than immortal Lincoln? How vividly the picture comes to our minds of the poor country lad studying by the light of the fire! We can almost hear him say, "I'll study and get ready, and then maybe the chance will come." That chance seemed long in coming. He entered the Black Hawk War as captain, but came out as a private. He was defeated in his first campaign for the State Legislature. He was elected to the United States Senate but next term was defeated by Douglas. Every success in his life was balanced and many times overbalanced by an apparant failure. But were they failures? Every seeming defeat was a slow success.

Another class of men who afford an instance of what work and perseverance have done is that of inventors and scientific discoverers. They have spent years in patient toil and incessant endeavors, often succeeding when failure seemed almost inevitable. In this list are Cyrus Field, George Stephenson, Samuel Morse, Elias Howe and many others, who deserve full praise and honor for their aid to humanity.

Besides generals, statesmen and inventors there are other men who meet like difficulties. They are the great industrial kings who in many cases have worked themselves up from poor country boys to the positions of prominence they now hold. Among such leaders of men to-day in our own country are Carnegie, the bobbin boy, Marshall Field, the hard-working clerk, John Wanamaker, a turner of bricks, John Rockefeller, an assistant book-keeper, and Charles M. Schwab, clerk in a country store.

What a change has been wrought! Carnegie, the controller of vast steel industries, Marshall Field, the greatest merchant in the world, Wanamaker, the philanthropist, and Charles Schwab, who drew the largest salary ever drawn by man.

What has done it? In Mr. Schwab's own words, "I'm inclined to believe that mysterious something that stands for success is simply a capacity and disposition for hard work." Thus we see that difficulties call out great qualities and make greatness possible. "If there were no difficulties there would be no success. The spark in the flint would sleep forever but for friction, the fire in man would never blaze out but for antagonism." A strong will, a settled purpose, and an invincible determination can accomplish almost anything. In this lies the distinction of great men from the rest of humanity.

And now how well we can apply this principle to ourselves. There is an Italy and an Alps for us as well as for Bonaparte. The world lies before us, great, grand, glorious! The opportunities are ours to make or mar them. We can be a part of the many who are content to serve in the common ranks, or we can be the great and shining leaders, whether in letters, science, or politics, to lead others on in the march of humanity.

And now, oh classmates, the Class of 1904 has finished its work in Sequoia. In a few moments we are to receive our diplomas and pass beyond the portals of this school. Foolish indeed, thoughtless, ungrateful would we be, did we not appreciate what has been done for us. We have gone to a splendid school. Trustees and tax-payers have been thoughtful and liberal. Our teachers have been kind and patient, always pointing us to the upward way. For it all, our friends and teachers, we are to-night and shall be ever grateful. To-night for the last time a class graduates from Sequoia within these walls. We are the last class to tread in these places. Oncoming classes will graduate from the magnificent new home, of which we are so proud. It is the one regret of 1904 that we can come so near and are yet so far from the new home. Schoolmates, you who follow, let me admonish you, keep the new associations, the new home, untarnished. Classmates, for four years we have walked together. Happy, pleasant associations! Years of growth for us. Always shall we look back to them with fond memories. Stepping out to-night into the new world with equipments which Sequoia has given us, may our paths be always in pleasant places. Remember we can show our thankfulness, our appreciation and our affection by the lives which we will lead. May Sequoia and Sequoians never blush for any of us! Friends, teachers, Sequoia, farewell! Future, with your stern realities, your disappointments and your prospects, we welcome you!

The Public Library Place.

Within a single generation the American public library has made for itself a place in the life of the people as secure as is that of the public school. It has come to be recognized as a co-ordinate link in the system of public education. This exceedingly rapid rise was one of the marvels of our marvelous nineteenth century. During its last quarter there came into existence more than again as many public libraries as had been established in the country up to that time, while the number of books increased fourfold. Over 5,000 public and semi-public libraries, which contain 1,000 or more books each, have been listed, with a total number of volumes exceeding forty millions and a year's home circulation of forty-eight millions.—Joy Lichstein, in Sunset Magazine for June.

A Boon to Housewives.

On exhibition on the lower floor of the Times-Gazette building is the Floyd White Flame Oil Gas Generator and Burner which should interest all who desire to cut their fuel bill down to at least one-half of what it is now. There is no soot and it saves from 30 to 50 per cent over wood and coal. According to the verdict of scientific men it is the cleanest, safest and most economical burner in the State, as can be attested by thousands who are using it. Mr. Floyd would be more than pleased to have everyone call and inspect his burner. To see the article is to recognize its worth. It would pay anyone who wishes to save on his next summer's wood to call and see the burner burn.

The Parish Picnic Prize Winners. The Wanderers Return Home. California Lion Slain.

The Goldsteins of San Francisco have moved into the Edgar Mills place for the summer.

Captain Charles Harkins has been made a Major by President Roosevelt and will be retired within a few weeks, he having passed the age limit.

Miss Fanny Doyle departed last Thursday for Chicago, from which place she will proceed to New York. Miss Doyle in all probability will visit the World's Fair before returning. She will be absent until after the first of July.

Tony Boeckers has leased the A. Parte hay press and has started out for the season. Tony is, as every one knows, an expert hay baler and has an up-to-date press. Farmers employing him are sure to have their work well done.

Fred Miller, who has been employed at the Goodall residence for fifteen years as chief gardener, has resigned his position. Mr. Miller has a host of friends here who wish him every success in whatever business he may engage.

James D. O'Kane and D. E. O'Keefe arrived home from the St. Louis exposition Wednesday after an absence of three weeks. They saw the fair in its entirety and are loud in their praises of the great undertaking. It is grand in its conception, marvelous in immensity and managed in a manner that reflects credit upon the officers.

Frank Roach is expected home from his trip to Ireland to-morrow. He had a delightful time in the old country, but reading between the lines of his letters to friends it is evident he is glad to get home.

A California lion measuring ten feet from tip to tip was killed recently on the Partee ranch near Searsville. It was presented to C. W. Smith, who is having the animal stuffed and mounted by a San Francisco taxidermist. The lion was the largest ever killed in the county.

Rev. Robert E. Kenna, president of Santa Clara college, at the annual banquet held in San Francisco last Tuesday evening, announced that the college would be removed from its present site but would not leave the county. Menlo Park has always been a bidder for the old institution, but the following speech of the Rev. Father at the banquet, on the matter, puts this place beyond the pale of ever seeing it. The speaker said: "Though the fathers have decided to move the college to a more eligible site than the present historic one, desiring to have a greater acreage, yet the actual removal will not take place for several years. No definite site has yet been chosen, though several very fine ones have been visited by the fathers, chiefly near Saratoga and also near Mountain View. They have also examined a beautiful site half way between Los Gatos and Saratoga. Very probably the choice may fall on one of these, as it is well understood that the fathers desire to remain in Santa Clara county."

Geo. Goodman, the well-known concrete man who died recently in San Francisco, will be remembered by workingmen all over the State and his memory will always be revered by them. The deceased did all the concrete work at Stanford university as well as at St. Patrick's seminary and he gave employment to hundreds of men, always paying the largest wages and requiring them to work less hours than any other contractor. Shortly before his death he formed a corporation to be known as the Geo. Goodman Company. The directors and principal stockholders are several of the deceased's foremen and workingmen. At his death he left each 250 shares of stock of the company and among the fortunate ones to be remembered is Warren Morey, so well known here, who had been in the employ of Mr. Goodman for nearly thirty years. The business in future will be conducted by Mr. Goodman's employes.

Woman's Duties.

A woman who keeps her house in order and has the care of a family, has just as much responsibility as the man who provides the means to carry on the housekeeping. She is the deserving of the more credit since the demands on her strength are greater. The everlasting sameness about her duties, and the confinement necessary to carry them out is very trying to the nervous system, this produces a strain on the mind that makes her irritable, cross, and dissatisfied, which is just as much a disease as rhematism or catarrh. If the nerves can be built up and made strong by medicine of some kind, this feeling is changed to one of cheerfulness and pleasure in her duties. The medicine that makes strong steady nerves, and prevents disease by building up the entire system, is Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic, a tablet to take at meal time. Cures nervous prostration by making rich blood, feeding the nerves, and making solid flesh at the rate of 1 to 3 pounds a week. This medicine is sold by druggists for 75 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $2, or sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price. Write us about your case. Address Dr. Bosanko Medicine Company, 128 S. Sixth street, Philadelphia, Penn.

Mrs. Laura S. Webb,
Vice-President Woman's Democratic Clubs of Northern Ohio.

"I dreaded the change of life which was fast approaching. I noticed Wine of Cardui, and decided to try a bottle. I experienced some relief the first month, so I kept on taking it for three months and now I menstruate with no pain and I shall take it off and on now until I have passed the climax."

Female weakness, disordered menses, falling of the womb and ovarian troubles do not wear off. They follow a woman to the change of life. Do not wait but take Wine of Cardui now and avoid the trouble. Wine of Cardui never fails to benefit a suffering woman of any age. Wine of Cardui relieved Mrs. Webb when she was in danger. When you come to the change of life Mrs. Webb's letter will mean more to you than it does now. But you may now avoid the suffering she endured. Druggists sell $1 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

WINE OF CARDUI

What Time Proves.

This thing of being sick and looking for a cure is a mighty serious business. People are not given to joking even at the first sympton of the approach of the grim destroyer. They do not want to be the subjects of experiment, but want medicine that had the test of years behind it. A medicine that has been made and used for 20 years give assurance of its worth, and can be taken with faith that they have the very best cure the world affords. All this can be said about Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills as a remedy for sick-headache, dyspepsia, and indigestion, it begins right at the source of the trouble and the removes the cause. We will send a sample box of these pills free, or a full box on receipt of 25 cents. Sold by all druggists for 25 cents per box, or address Dr. Bosanko Medicine Company, 128 S. Sixth street, Philadelphia, Penn.

TWO KINDS OF CHILDREN

Children that grow too fast and those that seem hardly to grow at all, both need Scott's Emulsion.

It gives that rich vital nourishment which is the secret of all healthy growth. It rounds out the long limbs, and helps children to grow without using up all their strength in growing.

Mothers ought to know more about the wonderful help which Scott's Emulsion would give their children.

There is no secret about Scott's Emulsion. Nothing is covered up by obscure references to "active principles" or "alkaloids."

Scott's Emulsion is simply an emulsion of the best Norwegian cod liver oil combined with the hypophosphites and glycerin.
